The Importance of Play for Young Children

"It's great that the kids play so much at CCC, but when do they learn?"

This is a question we receive from time to time at CCC from parents and caregivers. The answer we give them?

For children, play is the best type of learning.

At CCC, we believe that the best preparation for a child's development and future learning is open-ended, child-initiated play. Throughout the day our teachers guide children through creating new learning experiences through their play, building the foundations for children's confidence in themselves, the development of meaningful relationships, and a curiosity about learning.

And play is serious business when it comes to young children's learning and development. According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, "play is not frivolous: it enhances brain structure and function and promotes executive function (the process of learning, rather than the content), which allow us to pursue goals and ignore distractions."

Play is key to building strong brains, bodies, and social bonds. It improves children's abilities to plan, organize, get along with others, and regulate emotions. It helps with language, math, social skills, and even stress management. Giving children plenty of opportunities to play is one of the best ways to help them grow into curious, creative, healthy and happy adults equipped with the skills they need to be lifelong learners. Play taps into the natural ways we learn, to nurture capable, confident children who become adults ready to take on the world.

The Harvard Graduate School of Education identifies three indicators of children engaging in playful learning (do any of them remind you of a CCC classroom?):

1. Choice: children setting goals, developing and sharing

- ideas, making rules, negotiating challenges, and choosing how long to play.
- 2. Wonder: children exploring, creating, pretending, imagining, and learning from trial and error.
- 3. Delight: happiness! Children smiling, laughing, being silly, or generally feeling cozy and at ease.

There are many resources addressing the importance of play for children -- a representative collection is provided on the CCC website. Parents who would like more information on this topic or who have questions are encouraged to speak with your program director.

Discovering Fall at CCC

Fall offers lots of opportunities for discovery with its bright leaves, textured gourds, and apples which are good for both eating and artwork!

An Exciting Step Forward for CCC Reimagined

Last week, CCC took an exciting step forward in our strategic project, CCC Reimagined, with the official photo documentation of the groundbreaking on our new site at 250 Old Bedford Road. CCC Executive Director Pat Nelson, CCC Board Chair Thomas Doherty, Concord Town Planner Elizabeth Hughes, Chris Keeley from Bowdoin Construction, Jeffrey Glashow from Middlesex Savings, Adam Collier from D.W. Arthur Associates Architecture, and John Amaral from Omni Properties all gathered at 250 Old Bedford Road on Tuesday, October 4, for the official groundbreaking photo shoot. They were joined for some of the shoot by children from one of our Ripley preschool classrooms.

Upcoming Events

Community Celebration of 250 Old Bedford Road Groundbreaking

All CCC families and staff are invited to celebrate the groundbreaking of our new site at 250 Old Bedford Road with a community celebration at the Playscape at Ripley on the morning of Sunday, October 16. Start gathering on the Playscape at 10:30 a.m., and at 11:00, children's musical group Rockabye Beats will perform their fun mixture of singing, dancing, instrument jams, a little bit of Spanish, and a lot of silliness! We'll have construction hats for everyone ... bring your diggers, shovels, and other groundbreaking supplies! Families are welcome to bring a picnic and stay for lunch after the concert.

Concord Bookshop Fundraiser

This annual community favorite is back! On Saturday, November 5, local merchant The Concord Bookshop will allocate a percentage of the day's sales to CCC. Our teachers and staff encourage our families to come in and shop by reading books to children in the Children's Corner while parent volunteers help shoppers select books (and if you're a teacher who'd like to read in the Children's Corner or a parent who'd like to volunteer during the event, please contact CCC Development Coordinator Jennifer Saxe). It's a great chance to get a head start on your holiday shopping while supporting CCC.

CCC and CCC Reimagined will also be featured in the Bookshop window the week starting Monday, October 31 — always a chance for our children to display their artistic talents!

2022-2023 Fund for CCC Update

The 2022-2023 Fund for CCC mailing will be going out soon to current families, teachers and staff, and the mailing to alumni families will go out later this fall. We hope that all our community members will consider supporting CCC at this exciting time as we launch CCC Reimagined, our strategic project to restructure CCC into a two-site model.

For current families and teachers, the Giving Challenge is back! The classroom at each site with the highest rate of participation in the Fund for CCC from its families and teachers through Giving Tuesday, November 29, will enjoy a special activity after the holidays. Participation in the Giving Challenge will be tracked via Giving Turkeys outside each classroom ... for each classroom donation, the turkey gets another tail feather! Look for your classroom's turkey on November 1!

Use the materials you receive in the mail to make your donation or donate on-line. Information on the Fund for CCC is available on the CCC website.
